Year Alabaino.—We read in the New York Times:—Apropos of the recent meteoric howers and the explosions of steam boilers a every part of the country. Prefessor Loomis negests a very uncomfortable theory in regard to the safety of the earth itself. He binks it not impossible that sufficient steam night be generated in the burning centre of the world to blow the whole globe to pieces. binks it not impossible that sufficient steam night be generated in the burning centre of he world to blow the whole globe to pieces. A volcanic emption under the sea, or near it, like that of Vesuvina now in progress, may ut any moment convert the cartb into a huge steam boiler, by letting the water in upon the central fires, to be followed, for anght we know, by an explosion that shall rent it apart, and send the fragments careering through apace as small planets or metcors, each bearing off some distracted momber or members of the human family, to make, perchance, new discoveries and new acquaintances in other parts of the planetary system now revolving, with us. So that the final catastrophe may, after all, be only a boiler explosion on a magnificent scale of grandeur and destruction.

Leaving Books.—We have recently received several remonstrances against the leaving book system at Eton so profitable for the Eton boys. In spite of what was stated on this subject before the Royal Commission, the abuse seems rather to increase than diminish. We are assured that it is now an established practice that a hoy on leaving should receive a leaving book from every boy with whom he is on friendly terms in his division and in his dame's or tutor's house as a matter of course. Mr. John Walter, late M. P. for Berks, a fast friend of Eton, denounced this leaving book imposition in very plain English before the Royal Commissioners, explaining that is has long been the habit of the Eton booksellers to buy up cheap editions of showy works that do not sell, to bind them in tawdry bindings, and then to retail them to the Eton boys as "leaving books" at their published booksellers to buy up cheap editions of showy works that do not sell to bind them in tawdry bindings, and then to retail them to the Eton boys as "leaving books" at their published prices, plus the hinding. One of our correspondents writes—"My brother and I, who have buys at Eton, have just received our hills for leaving books for the half, one for 3l, odd, the other for 8l, odd. Accompanying them is a circular, stating that by order of the bead master no goods are to be supplied without a written order from the parent or tutor, and chelosing a general order for school and leaving books for our signature; worded thus——, supply my son with books, and send, the bill to me." Any parent incantious enough to sign this document is, of course, likely to regret the consequences. Surely it is the duty of the head master to crush an abuse like this at once. It can scarcely be necessary for the cultivation of school friendships that parents should be muleted to the tune of 10l, a year; for as the gift costs the boy who makes it no self-eacrifice, and as it is the fashion to make such gifts, the amount of literary trash thus disposed of by the Elon booksellers and paid for by the parents of the Eton boys is enormous.—Pall Mall Gazette.
